Instantly convert URLs to channels. No need for a service. It works with feeds and posts. Instantly use the web services and database of your choice to automatically create a channel for each URL! To get started install and use Feed2Channel, configure it for your site and follow the instructions.

Feed2Channel is a free service. It does not collect any personal data and does not require registration. If you would like to do your own server side processing, after logging into the website with a user account you can sign into the API using the section below. You can also add RSS feeds or manually enter your own channel. It's a breeze to do this! Once this has been done you can use Feed2Channel in the future. To add a channel simply click the + link. Feed2Channel itself is a free service that does not require registration and does not store any data. Regain control of your AOL mail account with this configurable add-on. It features a powerful mail client and an address book that all users can access. Mail regains control of your email account and offers a unified interface for all of your mailbox. If you're one of the million AOL users who has upgraded, this add-on won't help you. But if you are still running the old AOL 5.5 or 5.6 AOL mail client, or if you are making the switch from another web client, you will love this add-on. Note, please, the evaluation version is not maintained. This add-on has been tested on the version 7.0.9 of the AOL Mail client and does not interfere with the new version. It is compatible with both AOL 5.5 and AOL 5.6 versions. You only need the client to install the add-on and you can use it whenever you want. This add-on is free and it does not require you to give personal information to the developers. It works perfectly, and your AOL mail account will never be the same again. Keep your personal log, journal or diary. Journals are encrypted with a password and saved in an encrypted database on your computer. Notes and sub-notes are created for each entry you want to remember. Use private, public and shared journals. Set an explicit or random password and encrypt your notes with a master password. Choose which entries are visible and searchable in your journal. Export to RTF, TXT, HTML or PDF. Keep a back-up copy of your journal. Track your personal calendar. Keep your business contacts and appointments. Create a shared journal. Graphical, easy-to-use, with a modern look. Includes a feature-rich search function. Internet access required. Note: Alpha Journal Pro is sold in the form of a single installer, while the user manual is made available for download. Furthermore, the trial version of the application offers a limited number of documents and entries, while the full version does not require registration. Alpha Journal Pro can be easily installed and configured on all supported versions of Windows. The setup package is available for direct download from the author's website for a small fee. Windows XP and Vista In order to complete the installation, you will need to run the supplied installation file, which should run on the XP Professional, Home, or Vista Home Premium versions of Windows. A basic installation package is also available for download, but the full version of the program will not work on systems with a lower Windows version. Windows 7 Alpha Journal Pro can be installed on systems with a Service Pack 2 installed. You may have to download and install the latest version of the Microsoft.NET Framework 2.0. It is a free software that includes Internet Explorer, MS Office, and other key applications. 4. Beta screens are real before work on the project begins. They can not be changed, even if it is necessary and important to do so. Before the beta screen is placed on the site, beta testers must fill out an application form. 5. The Department of IT's proofing of the beta screen results in a document, which must be signed by the customer. The document can only be replaced after the customer signs it. 6. After the customer signs the document, the screens are completed. Screens can be approved any time. 7. Beta test results are sent to the customer in a printable format, which is stored
