Q: Conditional filter of data in a column I have a source CSV with thousands of rows that I want to run a conditional filter on in my Python code, but I want only the rows that match the condition to be copied to a new CSV. What is the best way to do this with pandas in Python 3? Example: `import pandas as pd import numpy as np df = pd.read_csv('csv.csv') df.shape df.head() df.loc[(df.BS == 'a'), 'BS']` The result is this, but this is not what I'm after. BS 0 a 1 b 2 c 3 d 4 e BS 5 f 6 g 7 h 8 i 9 j A: Use `df.loc[df.BS.isin(['a','b','c'])]` BTW, your example is not an interval for testing what you want. If you want to say that if BS is in list of A, then change the value of BS into B `df.loc[df.BS.isin(['a','b','c']), 'BS'] = 'B'` Also, you can use set and or as: `df.loc[(df.BS in set(['a','b','c'])), 'BS'] = 'B'` Units

Oct 14, 2015; New Orleans, LA, USA; Indiana Pacers forward Paul George (24) and New Orleans Pelicans forward Anthony Davis (23) face off in the second half at Smoothie King Center. The Pelicans defeated the Pacers 103-100. Mandatory Credit: Derick E. Hingle-US PRESSWIRE Making their second career meeting after suffering to the Indiana Pacers in the first, the Los Angeles Lakers and New Orleans Pelicans will play a rivalry game in the second round of the playoffs at the Smoothie King Center on Wednesday night. Worth a Watch for: The Lakers The Lakers have the potential to possibly win a first round series, unlike the Pistons. Lakers Forward Luol Deng, supposedly the best defender of the bunch, has an easy matchup against the Pelicans' Anthony Davis, who can do to the Lakers what Kevin Durant did to them last year. The key for the Lakers this series is that their bench needs to step up, whether it's Kobe Bryant on the bench or Andrew Bynum in the starting lineup. Lakers in the Round: The Bucks The Lakers were able to defeat the Utah Jazz, but can the Lakers be victorious over a team that will be the NBA's 6th seed in the East, such as the Milwaukee Bucks? If the Lakers can execute a little better, the Bucks will be out of luck on Thursday evening. Lakers Matchups to Watch Luke Walton to defeat Bucks Evan Turner: The Lakers will need to key on the best player on the Bucks, and that's Evan Turner. Turner was able to average 27.5 points against the Raptors, while shooting 21% from the field. If Turner can get into foul trouble (which he is wont to do), we could see Turner leave the game after one foul, and that will leave the Lakers with an uncontested shot. With Walton on the bench, Turner and the Bucks can't do to the Lakers what Kevin Durant did to them last year. Kyrie Irving to defeat Bucks Jabari Parker: Kyrie Irving is not a future Hall of Famer, but he can score. With a team that's beat the Lakers two years in a row, Irving will need to lead his team in scoring if the Bucks will be able to knock off the Lakers. If Parker is able to step up
